

'CROSSING THE DEAD LINE' THEME OF EVANGELIST

Develops Three Facts That Spirit of God Will Lead
Followers to Safety

ARK AS ILLUSTRATION

Feature of Service Was Presence and Songs of Male
Quartet of Pasadena

A feature of the service in the tabernacle last night was the presence and songs of a male quartet from the College of Pasadena. The meeting was characterized by evidences of deep feeling and conviction that have not heretofore been exhibited.

The theme of Evangelist Brown's sermon was: "Crossing the Dead Line," the text being: "My spirit shall not always strive with men." He used Noah's ark as an illustration and showed how finally the door was closed after all exhortations had been rejected. He outlined his theme in three facts—a glorious fact, a solemn fact and an awful fact. The glorious fact is that the Spirit of God does strive with men, which was well amplified. The solemn fact emphasized is the fact that the Spirit of God is given to lead us into definite service. One strong statement made by the preacher was: "You cannot make me believe in a million years that one who does nothing has the Spirit of God." Another statement was: "The acts of the apostles might be called the acts of the Holy Spirit." He also said the Spirit directs us in our work and when we follow it we will have success. When we fail it is a sign that we do not have the Spirit.

He declared that the feeling that one is not fit to be the dwelling place of the Holy Spirit is a sign that we love God and that the Spirit has not ceased striving with us.

The awful fact dwelt upon at considerable length was that there will come a time when the Spirit will not strive. The unforgivable sin, he claimed, is a condition of mind and heart that is brought on by a continued and persistent attitude of life. Persistence in refusing to accept kills the faculty to accept, he declared. In his exhortation, he insisted we ought not to lightly value the pleadings of Christ, that we ourselves put up the barriers, that the door is always open until closed by our own attitude.

Referring again to the ark, he said it took Noah years to complete it, but that the Ark of Safety has been complete ever since the crucifixion, and an invitation is extended to all.

A great many men and women came into the inquiry room following the service, and interest appears to be deepening.

FUNERAL RITES FOR PAUL MAX ZABEL

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Memorial Park over the remains of Paul Max Zabel, who passed away Friday morning at his home, 601 S. Vermont avenue, Los Angeles. Until he moved to Los Angeles about a year ago, he was a resident of Glendale, where he had many friends, particularly in the local lodge, of which he was a member. The services, in charge of Pulliam & Kiefer, were conducted by officers of the Elks' lodge with the assistance of Rev. W. E. Edmonds.

J. C. SHERER HAS ANOTHER BIRTHDAY

J. C. Sherer had a birthday yesterday and, though many and devious were the efforts employed by the City Hall force to find out his age, the only answer was that he was old enough to vote and hold office. They forgave him, however, when he distributed a generous supply of candy of most delicious flavors to the whole force. He was entertained at supper last evening by his sister, Mrs. J. C. Thomas of 615 North Louise street.

J. A. SPENCE ELECTED REPRESENTATIVE

J. A. Spence, head ad man on the Daily Press and one of the real boosters of Damon and Pythias principles, and a member of Helmet Lodge No. 25, Los Angeles, was unanimously elected delegate to the Grand Lodge, K. of P., which meets at Santa Rosa next week. Mr. Spence is one of the first members of Helmet Lodge and the high honor conferred upon him is a deserving one.

BEAUTY VERDICT GOES TO A CANADIAN GIRL

Miss Allison McBain

Miss Allison McBain of Sherbrooke, Quebec, who was selected by Cole Phillips, the noted artist, as the most beautiful girl in New York University circles. The selection was made at a beauty contest held by musical clubs in New York. Mr. Phillips said he could not resist choosing Miss McBain because she was so "drawable."

UNIQUE 'SEVEN' ENTERTAINMENT

Seven Little Girls and Seven
Little Boys and Seven
Kinds of Flowers

Little Miss Ethel Louise Kausen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kausen of 423 Patterson avenue, was hostess yesterday to seven little girls and seven little boys whom she entertained with a beautiful party.

The decorations were seven different kinds of spring flowers and Ethel Louise played seven different records on the phonograph and there were seven piano selections played by various little entertainers and seven games played by everybody, and some one recited Wordsworth's "We Are Seven," and Jean Ingelow's "Seven Times One" (or if they didn't, they should have done so) and there were seven different kinds of refreshments and a splendid cake with seven candles—and of course everyone who has read this far has guessed that it was the seventh birthday of little Ethel Louise.

Now seven, as everyone knows, is a mystic number. So today in the minds of seven little boys and seven little girls of Glendale there is a beautiful memory picture, which, some day when they have grown to be weary men and anxious women, may "flash upon that inward eye that is the bliss of solitude," and be to them a compensation for the perplexities of life which happily, are as yet undreamed of by them.

NEW GRANDSON FOR MRS. RICHARDSON

Mrs. Ella Richardson of North Brand boulevard is a proud and happy woman. Word reached her yesterday of the arrival of another grandson, Ferguson Shives Mitchell, in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Shives Mitchell of King City. His brother, little Billy Mitchell, who is very well known to the friends of his grandmother, is much delighted with the baby and Mrs. Richardson will drive to King City in the course of a week to welcome the newcomer and congratulate her daughter. From there she will go north to visit her son, Paul, who is a student at Stanford, taking Billy with her.

HOME AGAIN AFTER HARD SIBERIAN TRIP

Glenn Hurd, after spending nine months in Siberia, at times marching for hours in snow knee-deep and sleet, and taking long hikes in away below zero weather, then taking an educational trip, while still in the service, to Japan, China, the Philippines, Guam, and Hawaii, is again enjoying the balmy breezes and sunshine of the dear home city. He was in the Letterman General hospital in San Francisco, for several weeks, but arrived in Glendale the first part of this week.

ADVENTIST ACADEMY BURNS
SEATTLE, May 7.—Three main buildings of the Seventh-day Adventist Academy at Auburn, south of here, are in ruins today as the result of a fire that sent children and teachers into the chilly boarding students into the dormitories when the fire broke out. The damage is $200,000.

LUSITANIA SUNK SIX YEARS AGO

NEW YORK, May 7.—Today is the sixth anniversary of the war's greatest horror—the sinking of the Lusitania. The great liner was torpedoed off the Irish coast by the German submarine U-39, in the afternoon of May 7, 1915, with the loss of 1154 lives, 114 of them Americans. Just 13 months ago the International News Service scored one of the greatest newspaper achievements of recent years by printing the log of the commander of the U-39, giving the personal story of the German who was responsible for this atrocity.

CHAUTAUQUA WILL GIVE FINE PROGRAM

Patrons Are Requested by Guarantor Committee to Buy Tickets Now

The Chautauqua guarantor committee met last night at the headquarters of the Chamber of Commerce, where it was addressed by F. R. Drexler, director. His report indicated a much better program than last year, though that satisfied people very well.

A decision was reached to fix the hour for the afternoon sessions at 3:30 and the night gatherings at 7:30. The committee also agreed to send out 25 teams of two each, to canvass the city by districts. This will be done Tuesday and Wednesday, but patrons are urged not to wait until committee representatives come around but to buy their tickets anyway. Season tickets can be purchased at the First National bank, Glendale branch, of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings bank, and reservations can be had at the Glendale Book store.

"LITTLE PRINCESS" LAST NIGHT WAS BIG SUCCESS

Palace Grand Well Filled at Both Performances Despite Inclement Weather

PLAY WELL RECEIVED

Little Gladys Mitchell Recites and Gould Moore Gives Monologues and Dance

Letter-perfect in their parts, without a trace of self-consciousness and with remarkable sense of the dramatic, the pupils of the Pearl Keller school gave two excellent presentations of "The Little Princess," at the Palace Grand theater yesterday, to the great enjoyment of large audiences of children and grown-up children. Gifted, versatile, little Cecelia Mae Fisher, was imitable as Sarah Crewe, interpreting the part in a manner that won the hearts of her audience; Doris Packer as Miss Minchin, the grasping, hard-hearted head of the young ladies' seminary, showed decided talent as a character actress; Glen Hitchcock too, as Becky, the scullery maid, evidenced power as a delineator of character parts.

Marjorie Hart, in the part of a maid, was very good; Elizabeth Turner as Lottie, the baby of the school, took her part in a most natural way; Evelyn Hunt gave a really clever impersonation of Ermengarde, "the stupidest girl in the school," and Grace Yarbrough as Lavinia, "the meapest girl in the school," was as natural as life, as were also the other pupils of the school, Lily (Beatrice Turner); Blanche (Dorothy Dutton); Winnie (Ethelwynne Kent); Violet (Shirley Hitchcock); Mariette (Julia Pelley); and Jessie (Leona Hunt).

The children of "the family across the street," had likewise a most charming and intelligent understanding of their parts; Janet (Clara Clark), Nora (Eloise Moore), and Mazie (Anna Elizabeth Wilkinson), being three wholesome, considerate girls, while their small brother, Donald (Howard Kent), was certainly "all boy"—headless and noisy and inconsiderate, but good-hearted and just, just like the typical American boy.

The parts of the grown-ups in the play were also well taken. Miss Gertrude Champlain was her charming self as Madame Pascal, the music teacher; Marie Hearnshaw as Miss Minchin's browbeaten sister, was excellent; A. J. Van Wie as Barrow, Capt. Crewe's lawyer, was a capital Englishman, and P. A. Bratman as Mr. Carmichael, Carrisford's lawyer and father of "the family across the street," was very good; Phyllis Adams as Mrs. Carmichael, mother of the above-mentioned family, gave a charming, natural interpretation of the part. Billy Justema's delineation of the part of Ram Dass, Mrs. Carrisford's Lascar servant, showed that he must have studied carefully the traits and habits of the Hindoo people, so true was his characterization, and Joseph Griffin's real dramatic ability was manifested decidedly in his part of Mr. Carrisford, "the rich gentleman next door."

The play afforded an opportunity for some beautiful and effective dances, among which may be mentioned those of Dorothy Dutton, Shirley Hitchcock, Julia Pelley (Oriental), and Cecelia Mae Fischer.

As an entr'acte, little Gladys Mitchell, a pupil of Mrs. Keller's school, who was assistant to Miss Keller in the direction of the play, gave a group of recitations that won hearty applause, to which the tiny young lady responded most graciously.

Equally captivating were the monologues and dancing of Gould Moore, given as a special between the second and third acts.

Work to beautify
Brand Boulevard

The committee appointed by the Brand Boulevard Improvement Association to confer with the Pacific Electric Railway Company concerning the lowering of their tracks on Brand boulevard met last evening at the home of the president, Mattison B. Jones, to hear a report of a sub-committee appointed from their own number at a previous meeting.

REQUESTED TO PUT UP HOUSE NUMBERS

Residents of Verdugo Woodlands and the Grandview district are urged to go to the city hall and find out the house numbers they are entitled to there, get the figures and put them up. This will greatly facilitate the delivery of daily papers by carrier. Every house should be numbered within the next week. Grandview residents need not wait on account of a probable change in street names, as that will not affect the numbers.

Married women five two years longer than single ones, although one in 70 dies in childbirth.

SMART COLORADO SPRINGS KIDNIE

The chief of police of Colorado Springs had his sense of humor tickled a few days ago. A little girl, apparently about 5 years of age, was picked up on the streets and taken to police headquarters. She tearfully informed Bruce that she was lost.

"I came down town with my mother and got lost," she told the genial head of the city detective force.

"Why didn't you hold onto her skirts?" Bruce wanted to know.

"Couldn't reach 'em," was the tot's startling answer.

MOTHERS' DAY IS CELEBRATED

Chapter B. A. Holds Regular Meeting Yesterday at Mrs.
Edith Arnold's Home

The regular half day meeting of Chapter B. A. P. E. O., was held Friday, at the home of Mrs. Edith Arnold, on East Bonita.

This was a beautiful occasion for Chapter B. A., notwithstanding the elements, as it was Mothers' Day. Each member brought her mother or somebody else's mother and upon the latter's arrival a lovely red rosebud was presented to her. The hostesses each wore a white carnation.

The program was opened with a few charming words of welcome to the Mothers by the president of B. A. Mrs. Madeline Kelley. Mrs. Edith Arnold rendered beautifully some old time songs, and a sweet Mother's Poem, followed by a jolly one, "Ma and the Auto," both by Edgar Guest, were well given by Mrs. Effie Preston.

The special feature of the afternoon's program was a travelogue of a trip through the northwest in an auto, given by Mrs. Stella Carver, the Mother of P. E. O. in California, in her own inimitable fashion. She had many kodak pictures of much interest to show in connection with her trip. In closing she was presented with a beautiful bouquet from the chapter.

Dainty refreshments of ice cream, in yellow and white, the P. E. O. colors and little individual cakes with a Marguerite on top, the P. E. O. flower, were greatly enjoyed.

The next all-day meeting will be held May 20, at the home of Mrs. Kate Williams on Orange street. This will be a philanthropic day.

POLISH GOVERNMENT BLAMELESS FOR UPRISING

Above Statement Was Made
by John Roman, Well-Known Glendale Man

Considerable space is given in the daily papers to what seems to be a triangular war in Silesia, which has been a bone of contention ever since Frederick the Great of Prussia wrested it from Maria Theresa, queen of Austria-Hungary, at the close of the Seven Years' war, in 1760. It was originally a part of Poland and was stolen from her when Austria, Russia and Germany dismembered that unhappy country in the 18th century. The recent plebiscite to determine the status of Silesia wrought great confusion, that finally led to war.

John Roman of 1092 South Central is well posted on the situation and he says that the Polish government is not to blame for the uprising, but that the plebiscite commission is. He says that after the Polish inhabitants of Silesia had been urged for three years to vote in favor of annexation to Germany, were finally given a chance to declare themselves, and voted almost solidly to join Poland. Then when these districts that had expressed themselves almost unanimously in favor of joining Poland, were about to be turned over to Germany, not only against their wishes but in defiance of the treaty of Versailles, these Polish people rose in protest against this unjust partition which was urged by the plebiscite commission and which would give Poland very little of the territory voted for.

Glaring headlines in city papers told of 100 allied soldiers killed by Poles and other atrocities perpetrated. This is absolutely unjust to Poland, which at all times worked for the allied cause and 40,000 American Poles volunteered when our beloved country entered the war for humanity, many of them paying with their lives for their devotion. Before America entered the war, many of them paid their own fare to France to join the army fighting for the allies. Nearly half of these lost their lives. America should remember Kosciuszko and do justice to Poland's cause.

TO FIGHT DEATHBED WILL OF HUSBAND

Mrs. Cecily Oyster, 26, whose 72-year-old millionaire husband, George M. Oyster, added a deathbed codicil to his will revoking the generous provision he had made for her. Mr. Oyster was a resident of Washington, D. C. The wedding of the couple last January was the culmination of a New York state fair romance last September. It is expected the widow will make a hard fight for the fortune snatched away from her by the deathbed codicil.

RUSSIAN PROGRAM OF MUSIC SECTION

Delightful Afternoon at Home of Mrs. Calvin Whiting on North Kenwood

The music section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club was entertained Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Calvin Whiting. In spite of the many social and other affairs which were being held at the same time, the attendance was excellent and a fine program was given. It opened with a program on Russian music, by Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, illustrated by pictures of some of the more renowned composers of Russian music.

The first musical numbers were given by Mrs. Dorothy Welcome, violin solos—"Spring" (Greig); "On the Banks of the Stream" (Boult); and Haydn's "Minuet."

Miss Gieger, a newcomer in Glendale, gave as a piano number Rachmaninoff's "Prelude," and for an encore, another Russian composition, "Morning," by Rachmaninoff, was beautifully sung by Mrs. Robert Yost, who responded to an encore call with an aria from "Joan of Arc."

Miss Mildred Pray played "Waves," by Moszkowsky, in a fine manner and responded to applause with the charming "Impromptu" by Reinhold.

Mrs. LeRoy Bosserman gave an excellent summary of the convention of music clubs just ended in Los Angeles, touching only the high lights.

Very nice refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program by the hostess.

MUSIC CLUB GIVES FINE COMMUNITY NIGHT PROGRAM

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones Voices
Praise in Showing Made by Glendale Club

ENJOYABLE MUSIC FEST

Los Angeles, Santa Ana and Glendale Only Cities to Report New Clubs

The audience assembled for the altogether delightful program put on by the Glendale Music Club, Friday night, in the auditorium of Glendale high, must have been an inspiration to every participating musician. It was composed of persons obviously of culture who had come for the enjoyment of something really worth while rather than simply for entertainment. Their appreciation and sympathetic response contributed in no small degree to the success of the performance.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the club, opened the program with a word of greeting in which she voiced her pride in the showing made by Glendale in the roster of musical organizations read at the convention of the Federation of Music Clubs just closed in Los Angeles. But three cities were able to report three new music clubs and those three were Los Angeles, Santa Ana and Glendale. She also expressed her pride in the program about to be given because it was "all made in Glendale," by which she meant that the contributors are all Glendallians.

The musical feast opened with two numbers by the Girls' Glee Club of Glendale Union high school which gave, under the leadership of Mrs. Dora Gibson, "The Moon Drops Low" (Cadman) and "Sweet, Sweet Lady" (Spross). "Fine! Fine!" some of the semi-professional men singers in the audience were heard to exclaim as they cracked the air with applause. "In time, in tune, in unison, and singing with spirit," was their verdict.

The other chorus numbers were given by the Madrigal Club under direction of Mrs. Charles A. Parker with Mrs. John A. Wright at the piano. The splendid artistic development that has been made by members of this club in the past year was received with almost an ovation of applause. Especially brilliant was the unusual "Sparkling Sunlight" (Arditti), which was captivating and won instant appreciation. Scarcely less pleasing was "Fairly Piper" (Brewer). In response to the insistent demand for an encore the club sang about the little dog that barked at the moon, which also pleased.

Numbers given by the Nevin quartet composed of Mesdames Helen G. Cole and Frank Arnold, sopranos; A. M. Draper and C. A. Parker, altos, were delightful. All these ladies are favorites with Glendale audiences and it was a treat to hear them in combination. They sang "At Twilight" and "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes," the selection last named being especially enjoyed and for an encore sang "My Rosary," always welcome to an audience, especially if interpreted as beautifully as on this occasion.

Ella Faggioli entrenched herself in the good graces of his hearers by the expression and feeling with which he interpreted his selections—some of them modern, and some of the lovely classical songs that displayed his fine tenor voice in perfection. His repertoire included "Jewel of My Heart" (Risher), "At Parting" (Rodgers), "The Clover" (MacDowell), "She Never Told Her Love" (Hayden), "On Wings of Music" (Mendelssohn), "Moonlight Night" (Schumann), and for an encore that old favorite, "Oh, That We Too Were Maying." His accompaniments were sympathetically played by Mrs. Faggioli.

A harp if well played is always loved by an audience and the harp with which Mrs. Emona Hopkins charmed her listeners proved to be one of heavenly strings.

Mrs. Catherine Shank, who is always welcome, no matter what she sings or does, took liberties with the program and introduced several numbers by American composers in place of those listed, but the audience was not dissatisfied. Her splendid rendition of "One Golden Day" (Foster), was followed by "Midsummer" (MacDowell) and "Last Night I Heard the Nightingale." When her second group was called she sang with wonderful effect "Rain" (Curran), "Robin Sing Me a Song" (Spross), "Star of Me," and for an encore, "Little Pickaninny Kid." Her capable accompanist was Miss Eleena Warriner.

DOGS OF GLENDALE HAVE NO RABIES

"Recently the Los Angeles Examiner printed an article," says Dr. J. E. Eckles, health officer of the city of Glendale, "stating that several dogs afflicted with rabies were found in Glendale. This was immediately investigated by our department with the result that said statement was found to be false and without any foundation whatever. These investigations were made at the place where these afflicted dogs were taken and it was found that instead of a number of cases of rabies being found, that only two cases were definitely shown to be suffering from hydrophobia, and that none of these dogs were from Glendale, but were from a part of Los Angeles known as Glassell Park. We are unable to find any trace of rabies originating in the city of Glendale, with the exception of one case, and that, after careful examination had been made of the dog in the laboratory of the state, was pronounced doubtful. The dog, however, was immediately killed and this case is being watched so that should any developments arise some immediate action will be taken to safeguard the people of Glendale by whatever action may be necessary to prevent the spread of the malady."

TWO BRIDGES OVER THE BIG TUJUNGA

It has been announced from the office of Jonathan S. Dodge, county supervisor, that bids have been received by the state highway commission for the construction of two bridges on the state highway across the Big Tujunga. The lowest bidder on the small bridge is the Mercereau Bridge and Construction company, of Los Angeles, whose bid, along with the amount furnished by the state in the way of material, would aggregate $29,123.00.

The lowest bidder for the large span bridge, of a total length of about 900 feet, was made by William Ledbetter, of Los Angeles, and the entire cost of this bridge, including materials furnished by the state, amounts to a total sum of $155,307.55.

Supervisor Dodge is of the opinion that this contract will be awarded to the lowest bidder by the engineering department of the state, and that construction will begin at once.

"WAY DOWN EAST" IS SCREEN TRIUMPH

"Way Down East," D. W. Griffith's magnificent picture, is coming to the Glendale theater tomorrow for a two-day run.

There will be four performances only, the regular matinee and one evening performance at 8:15. The principal stars are Lillian Gish and Richard Barthelmess.

A symphony orchestra from the Forty-fourth street theater, New York city, adds much to the finish of the setting, and atmosphere of this great picture.

INTERMEDIATE ASSEMBLY

An assembly was held at Intermediate Friday afternoon at 2:30, which was addressed by a representative of the coming Chautauqua, Mr. Drexler, who told of some of the special attractions, and whose remarks were reinforced by Superintendent Richardson D. White. There were songs, directed by Miss Brenaman, the program closing with the salute to the flag.

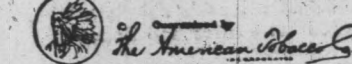

No spring wardrobe will be complete without the popular canton crepe frock. It is all the rage just now.

MRS. A. WEGER HAS LUNCHEON GUESTS

Complimenting Mrs. A. Weger, 332 Ethel street, her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Weger, was hostess recently to a group of friends. Roses and ferns adorned the house for the pleasant affair, which included a luncheon, an afternoon "shower" for the honor guest and an evening dinner. Luncheon guests, who were also entertained at evening dinner, were Mrs. Bertha McComb and son, Mrs. J. Barron and daughter, Olive; Mrs. Nellie Kiloh and daughter, Betty, all of Los Angeles. They were also guests at the afternoon party. Others who came in the afternoon were Mrs. William Weger, Mrs. John Weger, Mrs. W. Gamble and daughter, Marian.

Miss Grace McComb, daughter of the complimented guest, shared honors with her mother, because the day marked the fifteenth anniversary of her birth.

Music and conversation were the diversions of the afternoon. A much enjoyed feature was readings by Mrs. Kiloh, a Scotch comedienne, who, with her husband, was on the stage in Glasgow for many years. Mrs. Kiloh is a sister of Mrs. A. Weger, the honor guest.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served during the afternoon.

DRAMA SECTION AT MRS. C. A. BARKER'S

Mrs. C. A. Barker, 1246 South Glendale avenue, was hostess, on Thursday to members of the drama section at their regular meeting.

The first three acts of Moliere's "A Learned Lady" were read by Mrs. R. E. Chaso, curator of the section, and this play will be finished at the next meeting.

B. L. CLINES GIVE A NOON DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cline, 124 North Orange street, were hosts on Thursday at an elegantly appointed noon dinner complimenting their cousin, Mrs. Helen Milne, of Hawaii, who is on her way to Scotland to visit her husband's relatives.

Other guests were H. F. Eaton, of Fresno; Mrs. F. L. Crandall and son Gail, and Mrs. Myrtle True Smith, of Long Beach; E. D. Barnett, of Santa Ana; P. Orr, of Tustin; Mrs. Clara Runions, of Riverside; E. H. Marlatt and daughter Barbara, and Mrs. C. Newcomb, of Glendale.

Mr. Milne, who owns a large sugar plantation in Hawaii, met Mrs. Milne in San Francisco today and together they left for New York City, where they will take the boat for Scotland.

SUPERIOR COURT IN SYCAMORE CANYON

An important case in which Attorney P. S. McNutt of this city was an interested party, was on the second week of its trial in the superior court of this county when Mr. McNutt became too lame to go to Los Angeles. As a courtesy to him and to avoid delay in the proceedings, Judge Hewitt kindly brought his court out to the McNutt ranch. With him were Clerk Tollins and his court reporter, Mr. Henderson. Owen C. Emery is acting as attorney for Mr. McNutt and it is altogether probable that the transfer of the court to the so different environment of Sycamore canyon was a great pleasure to all who are in any way concerned with the case.

The coat-dress is the darling of the spring mode and is the best friend of the woman whose chief ambition is to ally elegance and economy.

FOUGHT A DOUBLE-HEADER

Dal Hawkins, one of the most dangerous lightweights that ever pulled on a glove, passed through San Francisco the other day on his way to Australia.

It was in San Francisco that Dal started his ring career, and there last week he met an old rival, Freddie Bogan, in a gabfest.
Dal and Freddie had a good laugh over the battles of other days. Thirty-two years ago that pair fought a 75-round draw. Eddie Graney, who was the referee, called a halt and ordered the warriors back the next night. Bruised and tired as they were, they showed up the following night and Bogan won after 15 heart-breaking rounds. It is the only double-header in ring history.

DEMPSEY STANDS BY IRISH

Champion Jack Dempsey believes in luck. Sure pop, he does. Yesterday he called up his manager, Jack Kearns, from Summit, N. J., and asked him to get Joe Bannion to hold the watch for him in the coming battle with Carpenter.
"I'd like to have an Irishman hold that clock for me," the champion said to Kearns. "You know he held it for me in Toledo the day I won the heavy-weight title, and I believe Joe's lucky."
Kearns found Bannion, got him by the ear, and the thing is settled.

Mrs. W. T. Booth and baby son, John Leonard, will be moved from a Los Angeles hospital to their home in Roscoe tomorrow.

SCIENCE VS. CRIME

Readers of Fenimore Cooper will recall the "sixth sense," which enabled the Indian to track his foe by the bent twig, the torn leaf or the twisted blade of grass. Not less relentless, but more efficient, is the modern sleuth of science on the trail of the enemies of society, and the latest of his achievements in finger-print work, as revealed at a recent meeting of the British Royal Society, arouses wonder and tests even credulity itself. For centuries nothing seemed easier for the punishment of a criminal than to have him "identified." But centuries of penological experience have shown that, despite the infinite variety of the human features, it is easily possible to be deluded into certainty by what are merely resemblances. Culprits can "make up" for occasions, and faces shaven or otherwise camouflaged may defy the shrewdest of experts in physiognomy. The records of the courts in all countries tell of men on whom this kind of "identification" has fastened the penalty of another's guilt.

A remedy for these "mistakes of justice" opened out with the advent of the anthropometric system, associated with the name of Bertillon. Though some human beings may occasionally resemble each other in feature, none are alike in physical make-up as shown by limbs, skull and other anatomical characteristics. Measurements of these and of their correlations established the uniqueness of the individual and the impossibility of matching him with somebody else. But the instruments used could not always be depended on, and after the "personal equation" of the measurer had to be reckoned. The next step in advance was finger-printing, founded on the fact that there are ridges and depressions in the human skin, forming lines and curves, that furnishes a pattern which is just as unique as the yield of anatomical measurement, but which eliminates instruments and measurers by recording itself. Today this system is used all over the world, and though not always regarded as complete without other means of identification, has already shown its value. It has led to numerous arrests and convictions, where the only evidence of guilt was the damning imprint of fingers found on the door-post, the safe or the window. A proof of its efficacy is the fact that some burglars who have "got on" to the system find it dangerous to be abroad without gloves.

But a further refinement was to come. What of cases in which the finger marks are invisible? For science there is nothing invisible. A French savant showed years ago that what he called "latent" finger-prints could be brought out by chemical treatment, and it is this addition to the original method which is now being perfected. There is always a slight secretion of oil on the fingers, and if a paper or other material is handled some of this oil will be conveyed to it. When such material is treated with suitable ink the ridge markings repel the liquid, whereas as intermediate furrows and the rest of the surface are stained. The markings are thus recoverable, and it has been found possible to develop practically invisible finger-prints after periods up to three years. In this way science adds its latest contribution to the dissuaves which make the way of the transgressor hard.

It was rumored today that Georges Carpentier may also establish his camp at Atlantic City. Agents of the French champion here have selected Manhasset, L. I., as the site for the Carpentier camp, but it is said Manager Deschamps has been led to consider the financial side of the training camp business for the first time and has been dicker with an Atlantic City man.

As Carpentier and Deschamps are scheduled to sail from France for the United States tomorrow, it is doubtful that definite word regarding their plans will be available until they land in New York.

WILL ESTABLISH A NEW GROCERY

An announcement of considerable interest to the business world of Glendale is the fact that a two-story brick building will soon be erected by J. F. Stanford at 131-135 South Central avenue, which will contain a store already secured under a five-year lease by the Federation Grocery company, which operates a chain of "rock-bottom" stores. This one will be No. 30. ### INA CLAIRE WINS IN GAY PICTURE

Ina Claire, the Belasco stage star, is seen today at the Palace Grand theater in "Polly With a Past," adapted by June Mathis from the theatrical success by George Middleton and Guy Bolton.

It was this play which brought Miss Claire to stardom. The story has to do with a young girl, come from the country to study for the operatic stage but forced by circumstances finally to be a housemaid. There are friends of Rex Van He, in an effort to divert the interest of that impressionable young man from another woman whom they detest, prevail upon Polly Sharon to assume a part of an interestingly brilliant hue. And there properly—or perhaps improperly—the story really begins.

In support of Miss Claire are Ralph Graves, as Rex; Marie Wainwright, Harry Benham, Clifton Webb, Louizita Valentine and Myra Brooks.

'THE SPENDERS' AT GLENDALE THEATER

"The Spenders," Benjamin B. Hampton's splendid photoplay of that delightful Harry Leon Wilson book is shown at the Glendale Theater today for the last time.

Carrying to the screen Mr. Wilson's unique humor, his pleasing, human characters, and an appealing dramatic plot, "The Spenders" is a photoplay that will dwell long in one's memory. It abounds in romance, adventure, comedy, quaint humor and rich color. The varied and brilliant society atmosphere, with its smart costumes and display of wealth, does not dispel the humanness of the characters. More than a society picture, "The Spenders" is a genuinely humorous drama of human life, one that is universal and rings true.

The general theme of the story is the awakening of responsibility and manhood in a fine young fellow who seems, at first, to be but a purposeless "spender." This is accomplished by the joint efforts of quaint "Uncle
